

I have spent 30 years in media – as both a broadcaster and content creator. I have always understood the regulations that the FCC imposed as necessary to leveling the playing field since the broadcast spectrum itself had physical limits to participation.

I have been concerned by the deregulation and consolidation of media companies since the 1990's, but I always knew that was simply de-regulating a dying industry. The future was online. Now you're trying to use the same kind of ham-handed, monopolistic techniques on the internet. Repealing Net Neutrality will kill the entrepreneurial spirit in media, take the nation backwards in the one area in which we lead the world, and I believe will seriously damage the US economy.

I support Net Neutrality and strongly encourage you to vote against repeal.

Thank You

Alan Reitano